

EXHIBITS AT LEE COUNTY FAIR ARE BEST IN HISTORY

EVERY DEPARTMENT IS FILLED WITH FINE DISPLAYS THIS YEAR.

BIG CROWD ON OPENING DAY

Children's Day Was One of Interest—First Races Tomorrow Afternoon.

BULLETIN.

Amboy, Aug. 21—Because of the shower this noon the athletic events for children were postponed until tomorrow. They will be carried out then as programmed. In addition to the scheduled track events tomorrow two half mile running races will be held.

Amboy, Aug. 21—The eighth annual Lee county fair opened today, and despite threatening clouds of the morning a very good crowd for the first day gathered. The day was largely devoted to children, and special athletic events in which many kiddies from all parts of the county participated were held this afternoon.

The Chamber of Commerce band, which will furnish music during the week, arrived early in the morning from Dixon and all during the day played stirring music. The free attractions, which will continue throughout the week, made decided hits in their first performances today. Beyond all doubt they are the best the association ever had.

Many Exhibits. The exhibits this year are more numerous and varied than in any of the eight years the association has conducted the fair. Every department is well filled and the many premiums which have been offered have resulted in some very fine displays. Visitors find exceptional interest in the exhibits.

First Races Tomorrow

The first speed events will be held on the track tomorrow, the large entry lists in the 2:30 trot and 2:13 pace, which were published in Monday evening's Telegraph, indicate some great contests during the afternoon.

Amboy May Be Benefited By New Arrangements Proposed By I. C. Ry.

Since the new administration has taken charge of affairs of the Illinois Central railroad company a number of changes have been planned in Freeport, says the Freeport Journal-Standard. Among the important ones is the running of a passenger crew from Chicago to Dubuque without changing at Freeport. In the past the crews ran from Chicago to Freeport and the new crew would then continue the train to Dubuque. Under the new ruling the same crew takes the train to Dubuque and return trips will be in the same way.

That means that many passenger men and families residing at Freeport must either live in Chicago or Dubuque. It is understood the ruling

DRILL FOR OIL IN LEE COUNTY

DISTRICT BOARD AT FREEPORT MAY GIVE OUT MORE INFORMATION.

ASK TIME TO HARVEST CROPS

Freeport, Aug. 21—Young farmers swarmed into the rooms of the district exemption board in the Fry block Monday filing affidavits for exemption on agricultural grounds. The greater number seek only limited exemption, it was said, giving them time to assist in the harvest of crops. Public offices where affidavits are sworn to were filled with this class of people, the clerks doing the work gratis as a patriotic duty. Lawyers also are doing this kind of work without charge.

District Board In Session

When the members of the district board adjourned Friday it was stated they would reassemble Tuesday, instead, they met yesterday, made necessary by many claims for exemption being filed and with the number increasing daily. Efforts are to be made, it is said, to have the board modify its ruling excluding publicity of its doings for the time being. The members will be asked, it is said, to give information it is believed the public is entitled to, without working harm to work under way.

TEACHERS MEETING IN DIXON NEXT WEEK

ANNUAL INSTITUTE FOR COUNTY TO BE HELD AT THE LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL.

County Superintendent L. W. Miller expects the annual Lee County Teachers' Institute, which will be held at the Dixon high school building next week, to be one of the very best ever held in this section of the state. He has secured an exceptionally fine line of instructors for the five days and teachers will find every department in charge of an expert. Reports from about the county indicate that the pedagogues are taking more than usual interest in the next meeting, because of new legislation recently enacted and that the attendance will be very large.

COUNCIL IN SUPPORT OF PUBLIC PROJECTS

GUARANTEES AID IN SECURING ACCEPTANCE OF LINCOLN HIGHWAY FUND.

FAREWELL FOR SELECTED MEN

Will Co-Operate In Public Demonstration—Protest Against Junk Pile.

The city council at its regular meeting this morning took official action in support of two big projects of public interest:

1. Active work to secure proper aid by Lee county to meet the requirements to secure a part of the $1,020,000 donation from the federal and state governments for the improvement of the Lincoln Highway;

2. Co-operation with Dixon organizations in holding a grand demonstration in honor of the Lee county young men who will respond to the country's call to arms as a result of the selective draft.

To Aid Road Project

Commissioner Whitcombe, who is Lee county consul for the Lincoln Highway Assn., explained to the commissioners the details of the offer of financial aid for the great highway, a synopsis of which will be found elsewhere in this paper, and the commissioners agreed to do everything in their power to aid the project.

The commissioners, headed by Mayor Schmidt, will also act as a committee to co-operate with the Chamber of Commerce, Elks and other organizations which will undertake a big demonstration of appreciation to the Lee county boys who respond to the draft. Inasmuch as only tentative plans have been formulated for such a demonstration no details have been given out for publication, but it is assured that a fitting farewell will be given the boys.

Protest Against Junk Yard.

A petition signed by 19 property owners on Second street, protesting against the junk yard conducted by Ben Hasselton as being unsightly and serving "to reduce the value of property in that locality" was presented to the council, and was turned over to the commissioner of public health and safety. The council will do all in its power to have conditions at the place remedied.

Chicago, Aug. 21—Justice Carter, director of coal for Illinois, today had before him all data obtained at the series of public conferences instituted last week, and which were suspended late yesterday. He has announced he will attempt to fix a price of coal at the nine month, submitting his findings later in writing.

Announcement was also made that the Illinois Council of Defense has issued a call for the adjourned session of the coal conference of governors and state councils of defense of a dozen or more middle west and northwestern states. This meeting will be held in Chicago Thursday and Justice Carter at that time may give his decision on price fixing.

Pending federal investigation Justice Carter has declared he will continue his investigation.

Dixon and Vicinity Had Fine Shower Monday Night.

Dixon and vicinity were visited with a fine shower Monday night, the first rain in over a month. The road also settled the dust, which had become exceptionally heavy on all dirt roads.

HAND TO HAND CONFLICT RESULTS IN WHICH CANADIANS ARE VICTORS.

ITALIAN ADVANCE IS GROWING

Austrian Line Is Bending At Various Points—Victory Being Delimited.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

London, Aug. 21—Canadian troops around Lens launched another attack on the western front of the French mining city at 4:30 o'clock this morning, reports the Reuter correspondent from the British headquarters in France. The attack developed into one of the most desperate hand to hand battles of the war.

When the Canadians went over the top they saw masses of the gray figures advancing toward them in the thick haze. Both sides had planned the attack at the same moment.

Fifteen minutes after the clash came the Germans were making their last stand on the parapets of their trenches. They then retreated rapidly.

ITALIAN OFFENSIVE CONTINUES UNINTERRUPTED

Rome, Aug. 21—More than 10,000 prisoners had been taken by Italians in their new offensive up to yesterday evening, the war office said.

The great battle on the Isonzo front continues without interruption. The war office states that the Austrian line is beginning to bend and give way at various points.

The Italians, supported by floating and fixed batteries and monitors, are marching toward success which, the statement says, is becoming delineated in spite of undiminished enemy resistance.

AUSTRO-GERMANS IN ATTACK IN EAST

Petrograd, Aug. 21—Austro-German forces are making vigorous attacks on the southern Roumanian front against stubborn resistance by the Russians and Roumanians, who have been forced back at some points.

PRINCETON FIREMEN CALLED TO OHIO FIRE

EXPLOSION OF VULCANIZER IN WIESSEL SHOP CAUSED BAD BLAZE.

BUILDINGS ALMOST TOTAL LOSS

(Special to Telegraph)

Ohio, Aug. 21—Fire broke out in the vulcanizing shop operated by Wm. Wiessel last evening at about 5:30 o'clock and everything in the shop was totally destroyed, save the books which were on a desk near a window and were saved by breaking a window. The fire started from an exploding vulcanizer and as there were quantities of gasoline, spread rapidly.

The Princeton fire company was called but the Ohio firemen had the flames well under control before they arrived. The shop was in a building owned by Mrs. Dora Chase of Ohio, and the building is almost a wreck. The building, valued at about $1500, was partially covered by insurance, but no insurance was held on stock, whose value was estimated at about $400. In addition to the customary stock, arms and ammunition were also carried.

BOY SCOUTS TO GO INTO CAMP FRIDAY

PLANS PERFECTED FOR GREAT OUTING FOR BOYS AT GRANDY.

EXPECT ABOUT 50 ENROLLED

J. Der Kinderen Will Be Camp Executive—Ministers of City on Committee.

Plans for the Dixon Boy Scouts under the supervision of the Y. M. C. A. are progressing rapidly. The scoutmasters held a meeting Saturday to work out the details and work was assigned to different men. No efforts will be spared to make this camp a success in every respect and to give the scouts a royal time. G. A. Woodard and George McWethy will have charge of equipment and transportation; A. J. Holland and C. Rhodes manage the commissary; H. A. Major will direct sports and recreation; J. Der Kinderen will be camp executive. The date for the camp will be Aug. 24 to 31. The advance detail leaves for camp Thursday to prepare for the coming of the Scouts the next day.

The camp fee will be $3 each and that amount will cover all expense and provide board, tent, room, etc. The committee wishes every scout who is going to have his fee in cash hands of the scoutmaster not later than tomorrow, in order to know how many are to be provided for.

List of Necessities.

Below is given a list of things each scout must provide for the camp. These are the absolutely necessary articles: Coat or sweater, extra shirt, extra pair of stockings, two pair blankets or two quilts, pillow with dark cover, two bath towels, comb and brush, tooth brush and paste, lead pencil, note book, pocket knife, a change of underwear, nightshirt or pajamas, extra handkerchiefs, poncho or piece of oilcloth 6x6, soap in soap box, safety pins, inch and a quarter folding drinking cup, small sized bib, cheese cloth bag about the size of 50 lb. flour sack to hold dishes, plate, cup, small bowl of tin or enamel, a knife, fork, spoon and dish towel, bathing suit, and a good disposition. Camera, flash light, fishing tackle, money, etc., are conveniences but not necessities. Every boy ought to bring a good book for the camp library.

Further information regarding necessary equipment can be obtained from the scoutmasters. Every scout should put all these articles in a suit case or satchel or sack and label with his name. Bedding should be rolled in oilcloth and marked. These things should be left at the Y. M. C. A. on or before 5 a. m. Thursday when baggage truck and advance camp makers leave.

The boys' camp of the Moline Y. M. C. A. is located at Thompson's cottage about two miles from the scout camp and there will be visits between the games, which will include baseball games and other contests.

For Visitors Day.

There will be a visitors' day at the camp which will be announced later, at which time the camp will welcome Dixon visitors and provide a program of scout entertainment for them. The program arranged for the daily work and play covers the entire period from reveille to taps and includes all sorts of games and scout work.

Any boy desiring further information on this camp may obtain same by calling the Y. M. C. A. or scoutmasters. Present indications show there will be an attendance of 50 boys at the camp.

LAFOLLETTE SAYS TAX BILL IS WRONG

URGES WAR PROFITS BE MADE TO BEAR COST OF WAR OPERATIONS.

SAYS PEOPLE DEMAND PEACE

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

Washington, Aug. 21—Conscription of wealth to pay for the war was urged in the senate today by LaFollette of Wisconsin in presenting the minority plans of the finance committee for higher rates in the war tax bill on war profits and incomes. He suggested increasing the $2,000,000,000 bill to more than $3,500,000,000 by such increases with elimination of consumption taxes. He also urged less bonds and more taxes be authorized.

The Wisconsin senator declared governments were demanding war while people were asking for peace, and contended that 85 per cent of the drafted men are protesting. The Liberty Loan, he said, was made possible by an "iron hand within a kid glove" and persistent advertising methods.

Predicts Big Expense.

The pending bill, LaFollette said, provides by taxes but 17 per cent of this year's war expenses, while Great Britain imposes 26 per cent. Next year's expenses, he predicted, may reach $30,000,000,000 or $40,000,000,000 and he urged that huge war profits and incomes be made to bear the burden of the war.

Several more days' discussion was promised the important and disputed questions remaining—income, war profits and publishers' taxes. Before the senate discussion began the finance committee met and decided not to resort to closure to expedite the bill. During the next few days, however, Chairman Simmons expects to ask that a date be fixed for a final vote on prominent questions in controversy. Senator Williams of Mississippi urged the committee to initiate closure, but virtually was alone in its support.

ELKS TO HAVE BIG FAMILY GATHERING

BIG PICNIC AT LOWELL PARK INSTEAD OF LABOR DAY CLAM BAKE.

Instead of the clam bake which Dixon Elks had for a number of years made an annual Labor day event, the members of the lodge have decided to hold a big family picnic at Lowell park on the holiday this year, and accordingly at last evening's meeting committees were appointed to make all arrangements for the outing on Monday, Sept. 3. A list of the committees and events will be announced later. It is planned to enlist the interest of every member of the order, and thereby secure an exceptionally large attendance for the big event.

BIG CAMPAIGN TO SECURE AID FOR LINCOLN WAY

LEE COUNTY VITALLY INTERESTED IN OFFER OF MILLION FOR HIGHWAY.

MEETING AT ROCHELLE SEPT. 3

Lee County Supervisors Must Arrange For Appropriation At September Session.

A big campaign to secure support from the Lee county board of supervisors at their September meeting, to convene Sept. 8, and to make certain the acceptance of the offer of $1,020,000 from the state and federal governments for use on the Lincoln Highway is to be undertaken by Consul A. B. Whitcombe, the Dixon city council and hundreds of believers in good roads in this county.

Every supervisor in the county, all highway officials and in fact every booster for good roads is to be invited to attend a monster mass meeting of officials of DuPage, Kane, DeKalb, Ogle, Lee and Whiteside counties, to be held at Rochelle Monday, Sept. 3. This meeting, called by S. E. Bradt, superintendent of Highways of Illinois, has been set for Labor day, a holiday, in order that all may thoroughly understand the project and that favorable action may be obtained by supervisors at their September meeting. Mr. Bradt promises if the various counties meet requirements at the coming meeting the "ribbon of cement" from the Cook county line to the Mississippi can be completed by Sept. 1, 1918.

Must Raise One-Third.

The allotments from state and federal governments to cover amounts to be received and include July 1st, 1920, available:

July 1, 1917 $1,326,000
July 1, 1918 1,326,000
July 1, 1919 1,762,000
July 1, 1920 2,209,000
It is estimated the amounts allotted will pay two-thirds the cost of the improvements of each road. The counties through which the roads will pass will be expected to furnish the remainder of cost. Construction will not be commenced on any road until a sufficient sum has been provided to complete the entire route. Preference in starting construction will be given on the roads in the order in which money for completion of entire road is provided.

Must Get Busy.

It is therefore obvious if counties interested in the highway project desire their big job ahead of the others the boards of supervisors must lose no time in voting their allotment of money. The aggregate amount will be between $400,000 and $450,000 that must be raised. The money may be obtained by general taxation, either by the county boards alone or by the boards and the several townships to make an annual Labor day event, put through as a whole or not at all. One laggard county can ditch the entire plan.

Mr. Bradt said yesterday the appropriation was the most important event in many years effecting prosperity and importance of this section.

"Public opinion should bring pressure to bear upon the supervisors," said he, "to appropriate the allotment at once. If Lee and her sister counties fall into line before sections of the state interested in other improvement projects, the highway paving will be the first undertaken and may be completed inside a year. If we delay and bring up at the tail end of the procession it may be several years before the road is built.

Burden Not Heavy.

"The burden upon taxpayers will not be heavy. Having received something like $100,000 from the state aid fund this year, the six counties are required to raise a like sum by taxation anyway, so the additional sum called for by the highway will not be so gigantic. Besides, it is possible the money may be returned to them.

"If the people approve the $50,000,000 bond issue at the November 1918 election, the counties will be entitled, as provided by law, to reimbursement from that fund for money contributed. The present state aid allotment may be used by the counties to assist in financing these roads and should the state bond issue fail, future state allotments may be used to reimburse counties to one-half the sum contributed."

SYNOPSIS

Estella Benton, left a penniless orphan, goes to join her brother Charlie, who is logging lumber in British Columbia.

CHAPTER II.

Mr. Abbey Arrives.

THEY walked slowly along the broad roadway which bordered the lake until they came to a branchy maple, and here they seated themselves on the grassy turf in the shadow of the tree.

"Tell me about yourself," she said. "How do you like it here, and how are you getting on? Your letters home were always chiefly remarkable for their brevity."

"There isn't a great lot to tell," Benton responded. "I'm just beginning to get on my feet. A raw, untutored youngster has a lot to learn and unlearn when he hits this tall timber. I've been out here five years, and I'm just beginning to realize what I'm equal to and what I'm not. I'm crawling over a hump now that would have been a lot easier if the governor hadn't come to grief the way he did. He was going to put in some money this fall. But I think I'll make it anyway, though it will keep me digging and figuring. I have a contract for delivery of a million feet in September and another contract that I could take if I could see my way clear to finance the thing. I could clear up $30,000 not in two years if I had more cash to work on. As it is, I have to go slow, or I'd go broke. I'm holding two limits by the skin of my teeth. But I've got one good one practically for an annual pitance. If I make delivery on my contract according to schedule it's plain sailing. That about sizes up my prospects, sis."

"I'm holding two limits by the skin of my teeth."

"It sounds big," she commented. "It is big," Charlie declared. "If I could go at it right, I've been trying ever since I got wise to this timber business to make the governor see what a chance there is in it. He was getting properly impressed with the possibilities when the speed bug got him. He could have trimmed a little here and there at home and put the money to work. Ten thousand dollars would have done the trick given me a working outfit along with what I've got that would have put us both on Easy street. However, the poor old chap didn't get around to it. I suppose, like lots of other business men, when he stopped everything ran down. According to Lander's figures, there won't be a thing left when all accounts are squared."

"Don't talk about it, Charlie," she begged. "It's too near, and I was through it all."

"I would have been there too," Benton said. "But, as I told you, I was out of reach of your wire, and by the time I got it was all over. I couldn't have done any good, anyway. There's no use mourning. One way and another we've all got to come to it some day."

Stella looked out over the placid, shimmering surface of Roaring lake for a minute. Her grief was dimming with time and distance, and she had all her own young life before her. She found herself drifting from painful memories of her father's sudden death to a consideration of things present and personal. She found herself wondering critically if this strange, rude land would work as many changes in her as were patent in this bronzed and burly brother.

"Are there many people living around this lake?" she inquired. "It is surely a beautiful spot. If we had this at home there would be a summer cottage on every hundred yards of shore."

"Be a long time before we get to that stage here," Benton returned. "And scenery in B. C. is a drug on the market. We've got Europe backed off the map for tourist attractions, if they only knew it. No, about the only summer home in this locality is the Abbey place at Cottonwood Point. They come up here every summer for two or three months. Otherwise I don't know of any lilies of the field, barring the hotel people, and they, being purely transient, don't count. There's the Abbey-Monahan outfit with two big logging camps, my outfit, Jack Fyfe's, some hand loggers on the east shore and the R. A. P. at the head of the lake. That's the population, and Roaring lake is forty-two miles long and eight wide."

"Are there any nice girls around?" she asked.

Benton grinned widely. "Girls?" said he. "Not so you could notice. Outside the Springs and the hatchery over the way, there isn't a white woman on the lake except Lefty Howe's wife—Lefty's Jack Fyfe's foreman—and she's fat and past forty. I told you it was a God forsaken hole as far as society is concerned, Stella."

"I know," she said thoughtfully. "But one can scarcely realize such a social blankness until one actually experiences it. Anyway, I don't know but I'll appreciate utter quiet for awhile. But what do you do with yourself when you're not working?"

"There's seldom any such time," he answered. "I tell you, Stella, I've got a big job on my hands. I've got a definite mark to shoot at, and I'm going to make a bullseye in spite of h— and high water. I have no time to play, and there's no place to play if I had. I don't intend to muddle along making a pitance like a hand logger. I want a stake. And then it'll be time to make a spurge in a country where a man can get a run for his money."

"If that's the case," she observed, "I'm likely to be a handicap to you, am I not?"

"Lord, no," he smiled. "I'll put you to work, too, when you get rested up from your trip. You stick with me, sis, and I'll wear diamonds."

She laughed with him at this, and, leaving the shady maple, they walked up to the hotel, where Benton proposed that they get a canoe and paddle to where Roaring river flowed out of the lake half a mile westward to kill the time that must elapse before the 3.30 train.

The St. Allwoods' car was rolling out to Hopyard when they came back. By the time Benton had turned the canoe over to the bathhouse man and reached the wharf the horn of the returning machine sounded down the road. They waited. The car came to a stop at the abutting wharf. The driver handed two suit cases off the burdened hood of his machine. From out the tonneau chambered a large, smooth faced young man. He wore an expansive smile in addition to a blue serge suit, white panna and polished tan oxfords, and he bestowed a hearty greeting upon Charlie Benton. But his smile suffered eclipse and a faint flush rose in his round cheeks when his eyes fell upon Benton's sister.

Miss Benton's cool, impersonal manner seemed rather to heighten the young man's embarrassment. Benton, apparently observing nothing amiss, introduced them in an offhand fashion. "Mr. Abbey, my sister."

Mr. Abbey bowed and murmured something that passed for acknowledgment. The three turned up the wharf toward where Sam Davis had once more got up steam. As they walked Mr. Abbey's habitual assurance returned, and he directed part of his genial flow of conversation to Miss Benton. To Stella's inner amusement, however, he did not make any reference to their having been fellow travelers for a day and a half.

Presently they were embarked and under way. Charlie fixed a seat for her on the afterdeck and went forward to steer, whether he was straightway joined by Paul Abbey. Miss Benton was as well pleased to be alone. She was not sure she should approve of young men who made such crude efforts to scrape acquaintance with women on trains.

After about an hour's run, with the south wind beginning to whip the crests of the short seas into white foam, the boat bore in to a landing beach a low point. Here Abbey disembarked after taking the trouble to come aft and shake hands with polite farewell. Standing on the boat, hat in hand, he bowed his sleek blond head to Stella.

"I hope you'll like Roaring lake, Miss Benton," he said as Benton jingled the go ahead bell. "I tried to persuade Charlie to stop over awhile, so you could meet my mother and sister, but he's in too big a hurry. Hope to have the pleasure of meeting you again soon."

Miss Benton parried courteously, a little at a loss to fathom his bland friendliness, and presently the widening space cut off their talk. As the boat drew offshore she saw two women in white come down toward the float, meet Abbey and turn back. And a little farther out through an opening in the woods she saw a white and green bungalow, low and rambling, wide verandaed, set on a hillock 300 yards back from shore. There was an encircling area of smooth lawn, a place rarely inviting.

Far ahead loomed a ridge running down to the lakeshore and cutting off in a bold promontory. That was Halfway Point, Charlie had told her, and under its shadow lay his camp. Without any previous knowledge of camps, she was approaching this one with less eager anticipation than when she began her long journey. She began to fear that it might be totally unlike anything she had been able to imagine, disagreeably so.

In due course the Chickamin bore in under Halfway Point, opened out a sheltered bight where the watery commotion outside raised but a faint ripple, and drew in alongside a float.

The girl swept lake shore, bay and sloping forest with a quickening eye. Here was no trim painted cottage and no velvet lawn. In the waters beside and lining the beach floated innumerable logs, confined by boom sticks; hundreds of trunks of fir, forty and sixty feet long, four and six feet across the butt, timber enough, when it had passed through the sawmills, to build four such towns as Hopyard. Just back from the shore, amid stumps and littered branches, rose the roofs of divers buildings. One was long and low. Hard by it stood another of like type, but of lesser dimension. Two or three mere shanties lifted level with great stumps—crude, unpainted buildings. Smoke issued from the pipe of the larger, and a white aproned man stood in the doorway.

Somewhere in the screen of woods a whistle shrieked. Benton looked at his watch. "We made good time in spite of the little roll," said he. "That's the donkey blowing quitting time, 6 o'clock. Well, come on up to the shack, sis. Sam, you get a wheelbarrow and run those trunks up after supper, will you?"

Away in the banked timber beyond the maples and alder, which Stella now saw masked the bank of a small stream flowing by the cabins, a faint call rose, long drawn:

"Tim-ber-r-r-r!"

They moved along a path beaten through fern and clawing blackberry vine toward the camp. Benton carrying the two grips. A loud, sharp crack split the stillness; then a mild swishing sound arose. Hard on the heels of that followed a rending, tearing crash, a thud that sent tremors through the solid earth under their feet. The girl started.

"Falling gang dropped a big fir," Charlie laughed. "You'll get used to that. You'll hear it a good many times a day here."

"Good heavens, it sounded like the end of the world!" she said.

"Well, you can't fell a stick of timber 200 feet high and six or eight feet through without making a pretty considerable noise," her brother remarked complacently. "I like that sound myself. Every big tree that goes down means a bunch of money."

He led the way past the mess house, from the doorway of which the aproned cook eyed her with frank curiosity, hailing his employer with nonchalant air, a cigarette resting in one corner of his mouth. Benton opened the door of the second building. Stella followed him in.

It had the saving grace of cleanliness, according to logging camp standards, but the bareness of it appalled her. There was a rusty box heater, littered with cigar and cigarette stubs; a desk fabricated of undressed boards, a homemade chair or two, sundry boxes standing about. The sole concession to comfort was a rug of cheap Axminster covering half the floor. The walls were decorated chiefly with miscellaneous clothing suspended from nails, a few maps and blueprints tacked up askew. Straight across from the entering door another stood ajar, and she could see further vistas of bare board wall, small, dusty window panes and a bed whereon gray blankets were tumbled as they fell when a waking sleeper cast them aside.

Benton crossed the room and threw open another door.

"Here's a nook I fixed up for you, Stella," he said briskly. "It isn't very fancy, but it's the best I could do just now."

She followed him in silently. He set her two bags on the floor and turned to go. Then some impulse moved him to turn back, and he put both hands on her shoulders and kissed her gently.

"You're home, anyway," he said. "That's something, if it isn't what you're used to. Try to overlook the crudities. We'll have supper as soon as you feel like it."

He went out, closing the door behind him.

Miss Estella Benton stood in the middle of the room fighting against a swift heart sinking, a terrible depression that strove to master her.

"Good Lord in heaven," she muttered at last, "what a place to be named in! It's—It's simply impossible."

Her gaze roved about the room. A square box, neither more nor less, 14 by 14 feet of bare board wall, unpainted and unpurged. There was an iron bed, a willow rocker and a rude closet for clothes in one corner. A duplicate of the department store bargain rug in the other room lay on the floor. On an upturned box stood an enamel pitcher and a tin washbasin. That was all.

She sat down on the bed and viewed it forlornly. A wave of sickening rebellion against everything swept over her. To herself she seemed as irrevocably alone as if she had been lost in the depths of the dark timber that rose on every hand. And, sitting there, she heard at length the voices of men. Looking out through a window curtain trained with cheesecloth, she saw her brother's logging gang swing past, stout workmen all, big men, tall men, short bodied men with thick necks and shoulders, sunburned, all grimy with the sweat of their labors, carrying themselves with a free and reckless swing, the doubles in type of that rolistering crew she had seen embark on Jack Fyfe's boat.

All about that cook house dooryard spread a confusion of empty tin cans, gaudily labeled, containers of corn and peas and tomatoes. Dishwater and refuse, chips, scraps, all the refuse of the camp was scattered there in unlvely array.

"You're home, anyway," he said. "That's something."

But that made no more than a passing impression upon her. She was thinking as she removed her hat and gloves of what queer angles come now and then to the human mind. She wondered why she should be sufficiently interested in her brother's hired men to drive off a compelling attack of the blues in consideration of them as men. Nevertheless she found herself unable to view them as she had viewed, say, the clerks in her father's office.

She began to brush her hair and to wonder what sort of food would be served for supper.

COAL DICTATOR IS FOR UNITED STATES

Illinois' Director Advised of Power to Go Ahead.

Washington, Aug. 21.—President Wilson has selected the man who is to be America's fuel dictator. He is awaiting acceptance by this man of the post before officially announcing his name. He is the head of one of the foremost institutions in the country and an expert on the fuel question.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—Coal Director Ogden N. Carter concluded his public hearings in the county building, and from his remarks the inference was drawn that he would permit coal operators only 10 per cent profit on their products. They are now said to be exacting from 50 to 80 per cent profit.

At the beginning of the hearing the chief justice asked Attorney Levy Mayer if there could be any difficulty arising between the state and the federal government if the State of Illinois should proceed with its hearings and arrange a scale of prices.

The attorney said he could see no trouble and the chief justice assured him that Governor Lowden as well as himself was of the same opinion. After much testimony of retail dealers, the hearings were concluded.

Lemons Whiten and Beautify the Skin! Make Cheap Lotion

The juice of two lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quart pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp get in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, smoothening and beautifier. Just try it. Make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It should materially help to whiten, soften, freshen, and bring out the hidden roses and beauty of any skin. It is wonderful for rough red hands.

Your druggist will sell three ounces of orchard white at little cost, and any grocer will supply the lemons.

Constantly recurring suffering gives women "the blues." It is said that this famous, old root and herb remedy has been the means of restoring more women to health and consequent happiness than any other remedy in the world. BRITISH AIRMEN FLY LOW; TAKE BIG RISKS

Germans Make Night Attacks, Avoiding Day Flights.

With the British Armies in the field, Aug. 21.—British airmen began to get lonesome, not finding antagonists in the air for battle and took to joining the Tommies in actual assaults on German infantry.

Scores of these encounters were reported. The British fliers would sweep along, barely skimming the ground, seeking out and spraying fire on cleverly placed German machine guns and their crews. Again, they would scurry along just back of German trenches, backing up with lines of fire the frontal assaults of British infantrymen.

The Germans are apparently following out a well-defined policy in avoiding battle in the air. They are apparently seeking to conserve all their aerial forces, reserving this branch of warfare for night attack.

Every night now sees strong German raids from the air. Early in the day, while it was still dark, the Prussians bombed indiscriminately a number of points behind the British lines. As many as thirty planes were seen in one of these marauding excursions.

Reports showed that at least one hospital had been damaged by the German bombs.

These "independent workers" are leagued with the Industrial Workers of the World in the United States.

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 21—Advices today from various parts of Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana failed to record an instance where Industrial Workers of the World obeyed the order issued by James Rowan, district secretary, for the agricultural and construction workers to go out on strike yesterday as protest against the detention in jails of many members of the organization.
Rowan is still nominally in charge of affairs of his organization in the northwest, but he is not allowed to communicate with anyone from jail cell.

aids, to inform himself regarding the chief problems confronting the nation and to formulate his program, warranted the brief intermission, which now has come to an end with the summoning of the main committee.

In view of the unparalleled economic and military situation, the opinion prevails in many quarters that the Reichstag, unimpaired of the clamors of the pan-Germans, should unequivocally reiterate the principles of the pac resolution as adopted by a two-thirds majority at the close of the recent stormy session.

Consider Pope's Note.

It is not unlikely that the papal peace note will be informally discussed early in the session of the main committee, which will further occupy itself not only with an active review of military and economic affairs, but with new legislation relating to the reorganization of the food bureau and the division of the department of the interior. This department will have a subdivision devoted to legislation respecting commerce, labor and social questions, in which fields far-reaching reforms and innovations are forecast.

SECOND STANDARD OIL COMPANY has fulfilled all expectations and passed into the class of "Producers" much sooner than anticipated. The stock has advanced from 5 cents to 10 cents per share and a further advance is justified. However, we have outstanding a few options on stock contracted when the price was 5 cents and no further advance will take place until these options expire—about September 1st. But you can look for this stock to go to 25 cents within the next thirty days and on up thereafter. The advance is fully justified by our

RUSS REJECT POPE'S OFFER

Inconsistent With Democratic Aims of Russian People Is Feeling.

Washington, Aug. 21.—Rejection by Russia of the pope's peace proposal was foreshadowed in an official statement issued at the Russian embassy. The statement follows: "The answer to the vatican's peace proposal has not yet been formulated, but there is a feeling in Russia that the proposal is inconsistent with the democratic aims of the Russian people in this war and nonacceptable from that point of view."

Parents' Interest in Children.

Psychology pronounces the law of interest from parent to child to be true.
Therefore, if parents desire their children to succeed in music or in any other subject, the surest way to obtain that success is to take more than a passing interest in their work, and see that they practice the studies which are designed to insure that success.

ITALIANS TAKE 7,500 IN DRIVE

Paris, Aug. 21.—Three members of the American ambulance service have been wounded at the front and brought to Paris. None of them were wounded seriously. The wounded men are: Earl Osborn, Garrison-on-the-Hudson, N. Y.; Dominick Rich, New York City; W. Pearl, St. Johns, Mich.

Italians in Big Offensive.

Rome, Aug. 21.—Commenting on the new Italian advance, the press says that it, like the British attack in Flanders, will be of service if it demonstrates how the people and armies of the allied countries feel toward the premature peace proposals of Pope Benedict.

It is said Austria apparently realizes the seriousness of the situation, as announcement is made that Emperor Charles is soon to visit the Austro-Italian front, presumably to encourage his troops.

Vienna Reports Big Drive.

Vienna, Aug. 21.—The Italians have begun another big offensive against the Austrians in the Isonzo region of the Austro-Italian theater, where fighting is in progress over a thirty-seven mile front, running from the region of Tolmino to near the head of the Adriatic sea, on the Carso plateau.
This information is contained in the war office communication.

Germans Withdraw on Verdun Lines.
Berlin, Aug. 21.—The war office announces that the French, without fighting, have occupied the Talou ridge on the Verdun front, east of the Meuse.

At all other places over a front of over fourteen and three-eighth miles, the German general staff reports, fighting is in full swing. The German high command says that Talou ridge was given up by the Teutons because this line of defense since last March had been occupied by outposts only.
Sixteen entente allied aeroplanes and four captive balloons, according to the statement, were brought down by the Germans.

Tell Weight of Poles.

Men who have become used to handling telephone and telegraph poles are able to tell almost exactly the weight of a pole that has been properly seasoned. The poles which are found to be much heavier than the expert's estimate have not been properly seasoned, for the extra weight is due to sap still in the wood.

Alsace-Lorraine has an area of 5,601 square miles and about 2,000,000 inhabitants. Its people are noted for their thrift and industry. It is rich in mineral resources, and its industries are many, varied and progressive.

BONE-DRY PICNIC FOR LABOR MEN

Bartenders and Waiters Will Refuse to Attend.

EAST ST. LOUIS, ILL., Aug. 21.
For the first time in the history of East St. Louis the Labor Day picnic, to be held in Jones' Park, will be
"bone dry."

The first reason for this decision on the part of those in charge of the annual celebration is that no beer or other intoxicants are allowed in the public parks. The second reason is on account of a growing sentiment in favor of dry picnics.

The Bartenders and Waiters' union
No. 332 has signified its disapproval of the dry program by deciding not to attend the picnic.

City Clerk M. J. Whalen, president of the Central Trades and Labor union, will be grand marshal of the parade. His assistant will be Edward F. Mason, secretary of the organization. Other members of the entertainment committee are: H. Kerr, Earle W. Jernison, Parker Hammond and E. James Scully.

HIGHER HONEY PRICES LOOM

Indiana Bee Product Will Go Up 25 Per Cent This Fall.

Valparaiso, Ind., Aug. 21.—Indiana honey this fall will cost the consumer more than in the past. It also will cost the wholesaler and middleman more.

At a recent meeting of the Chicago and Northwestern Beekeepers' association, held here, prices formed a prominent subject on the program, and after a canvass of the members attending it became known that an average increase of 25 per cent in price may be expected when the honey is placed on the market. The higher price is necessary because supplies necessary to the business have increased in price in some instances as much as 100 per cent, the men said.
Some will ask more than a 25 per cent increase, and some less, depending on the quality of the honey they will have.

GIRL DECAPITATED BY CAR

Springfield Miss Leaps from Auto
When Collision Is Near.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., Aug. 21.
Miss Kathryn Foster of Springfield was killed in an automobile accident.
Miss Foster was decapitated and her body mangled when she leaped from an automobile as it was about to pass in front of an Illinois Traction System car.

The automobile, in which they had earlier in the evening run off an engagement, throwing the engine out of use, was in tow of another machine at the time of the accident. The first machine had already crossed the tracks.
Reaching the top, it appeared to other occupants of the machine in the rear their car would be stuck. Miss Foster, frightened, leaped. The other occupants escaped injury.

POSTMASTER WINS HIS BET

Breaks Arm for $5; Now He Has $10; What'll He Try Next?

Shelbyville, Ind., Aug. 21.—"Bet you a 'V' I can jump it." And then G. P.
Hunt, postmaster at Rushville, who carries considerable weight, which had led his bantering friends to suggest to him he could not jump a bicycle rack on the Public Square here, vaulted over the rack.

He fell, however, breaking the left arm. It was the third time such an accident had happened to the arm, once when he was a boy of five and again about twenty years ago. He was taken home and then on to Connors-ville for an X-ray examination.

Painter's Back Broken.

Lafayette, Ind., Aug. 21.—Harry W.
Denelsbeck, a young painter, is lying in a local hospital with his back broken.
He was painting a flat when he slipped and fell twenty-five feet to the ground. An X-ray examination was made of his spine which disclosed a fracture. He is paralyzed from his waist down, but is able to talk. His home is at Elston, Ind.

BELVIDERE, ILL., Aug. 21.

the health of the soldiers at Camp

OREGON, ILL., Aug. 21.
A Galesburg firm has been awarded the contract to construct section D, Ogle county state air road, for $19,115.
The road is to be built of concrete for a distance of 6,800 feet out of the village of Flagg.

Farmer Cut by Mower in Runaway.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Aug. 21.—Alfred Foreman, a farmer, suffered severe cuts to his legs when the horses pulling a mower, which he was driving, ran away. He fell in front of the blade of the machine.
